

Objective

To reduce risk to the lowest reasonably practicable level by taking preventative measures. This document may be amended to reflect new guidelines published by Government bodies.

General principles

I reserve the right to decline work or leave a client session if I feel that I cannot guarantee a safe working environment for myself and/or my client.

I cannot work in a household

- * which is isolating because one or more family members have symptoms,
- * where an individual has been advised to shield or is clinically vulnerable.

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE)

Government guidelines state that “When managing the risk of COVID-19, additional PPE beyond what you usually wear is not beneficial. This is because COVID-19 is a different type of risk to the risks you normally face in a workplace, and needs to be managed through social distancing, hygiene and fixed teams or partnering, not through the use of PPE.”

Government guidelines also state “There are some circumstances when wearing a face covering may be marginally beneficial as a precautionary measure. The evidence suggests that wearing a face covering does not protect you, but it may protect others if you are infected but have not developed symptoms. A face covering can be very simple and may be worn in enclosed spaces where social distancing isn’t possible. It just needs to cover your mouth and nose. Wearing a face covering is optional and is not required by law, including in the workplace.”¹

I therefore will not be wearing gloves or face coverings, unless a client particularly asks me to OR unless we are working within 2m of each other, when I would require both people to wear a face covering (client to provide their own)
